August Adventures Are Here!

August marks a very special milestone for us — Two for the Row'd is one year old! What started as a shared love of travel and storytelling has grown into a community of nearly half a million people who've watched, followed and travelled along with us. This month we've stayed closer to home, hunting down hidden gems in Ireland's own back garden — with plenty of coffee stops along the way, of course.

Hidden Gem of the Month — Kilfane Glen & Waterfall

One of our favourite discoveries this month was the magical Kilfane Glen & Waterfall in County Kilkenny. Dating back to the 1790s, this romantic woodland garden is filled with winding paths, towering trees and a beautiful waterfall that feels straight out of a fairy tale. The moment you step off the road and into the glen, the temperature drops, the sound of running water takes over, and you honestly forget you're anywhere near the 21st century.

★ Top Tips

- Wear good footwear — the paths can be steep and slippery.
- The glen is generally only open during July and August, so plan your visit accordingly.
- Bring a camera — the light through the trees at the waterfall is beautiful mid-morning.
- Allow 60–90 minutes to walk the full loop at a relaxed pace.

Shankill Castle

We were absolutely blown away by our visit to Shankill Castle. Still lived in by the Cope family, the guided tour offers a fascinating insight into centuries of history, family life and beautifully preserved rooms — the kind of personal touches and stories you'd never get from a museum experience.

One of the highlights for us was hearing about the family's ongoing restoration work and the wonderfully eclectic collection of artwork and furnishings that make each room feel genuinely lived in rather than roped off. The gardens are just as much of a draw — think ancient yew trees, a walled garden, and quiet corners that feel a world away from the road outside.

Guided Tour: Weekends at 3:00 pm • Adult Admission: €14 (castle & gardens)

★ Top Tips

- Book ahead — tours are small and fill up quickly in summer.
- Allow at least two hours to properly enjoy both the castle and the gardens.
- The gardens are dog-friendly (on leads).

Brew for Two — Waterlilies, Carlow

This month our Brew for Two brought us to Waterlilies in Carlow — and honestly, one of the nicest iced coffees we've had in ages. It's the kind of spot that gets everything right: proper coffee, staff who genuinely care, and a bright, calm atmosphere that makes you want to linger a bit longer than you planned.

The iced oat latte was the standout for us, but the pastries and brunch menu are well worth a look too. If you're in Carlow town, it's an easy detour and the perfect spot to plan your next adventure over a good cup.

Where: Waterlilies, Carlow Town • Best for: Iced coffees, brunch, working-from-café vibes
